

6 MILLION STEPS FOR KIDS

How Far Would You Go To Help A Child?

6M Steps for Kids

THE VISION

6 MILLION STEPS FOR KIDS was first conceptualized by Peter Munson in November, 2008 when he was finishing up a hike in Rocky Mountain National Park, a favorite location in his home State of Colorado. He did not hear God say audible words, but the message was clear and rather succinct: “Walk across the country, speak along the way and raise money for organizations and ministries that serve children.”

Peter estimates that his walk across the country – from Charleston, South Carolina to San Francisco, California – will take approximately 6 million steps. He hopes to raise $6 million for four different charities. It was only fitting to name the project 6 MILLION STEPS FOR KIDS. On March 4, 2019, he will pursue the next part of his calling and embark on this amazing journey that will provide a bright future for children in need.

ABOUT PETER MUNSON

Peter is an avid hiker, preacher, and writer. He is married to Julia, a therapist, leadership development coach, and retreat facilitator. They have two adult children. He has been an Episcopal priest for 27 years, having served three churches in Colorado during that time. He is taking a leap of faith and leaving his current position in order to pursue this calling.

To prepare himself for this journey, Peter has done a number of things:

- Backpacked the entire 500-mile Colorado Trail, from Denver to Durango.
- Exchanged places with some of his Episcopal priest colleagues on Sunday morning by walking to their churches.
- Shared this vision, and encouraged his listeners to pursue the things that they hear God calling them to do – whatever those dreams might be.
- Discerned the route and the time frame for his walk, with the support of his family and friends.
- Begun planning and hosting fundraisers for the Walk.
